MEHRI LEXICON and English-Mehri Word-list

T. M. JOHNSTONE

This lexicon of the Mehri language brings to a conclusion the important series of works by the late Professor T. M. Johnstone on Modern South Arabian Languages, begun with his Harsūsi Lexicon and Jibbāli Lexicon. It is based on data collected during his own field work in Oman and those derived from Mehri speakers in London and in the Gulf.

This book contains a lengthy linguistic introduction which concentrates on the phonology and morphology of the Mehri language. The lexicon proper follows, providing examples of the syntax of the language in numerous verbatim quotations from informants. The book ends with an English-Mehri word-list and index of the definitions provided in Professor Johnstone's earlier Jibbāli Lexicon, for which an English-Jibbāli word-list was not provided.

THE RAJPUT PALACES

G. H. R. Tillotson

This beautifully illustrated book is the first detailed study of the magnificent Rajput palaces of north-western India. Covering such landmarks as Chitor, Gwalior, Udaipur and Jaipur, Tillotson offers a glimpse into courtly life, the feudal society which supported it, and the relations between the Rajput rajas and their Mughal overlords. Illus. £30.00

THREE FACES OF IMPERIALISM

British and American Approaches to Asia and Africa, 1870–1970

Phillip Darby

An illuminating exploration of the three faces of imperialism — as an exercise in power politics, an expression of moral responsibility, and an attempt to secure economic benefit — and their roles in British and American imperialist ventures in Africa and Asia in the last century. £14.95

ON THE AFRICAN WATERFRONT

Urban Disorder and the Transformation of Work in Colonial Mombasa

Frederick Cooper

The years between the mid 1930s and the late 1950s marked a turning point in African labour history. Focusing on the dock workers of Mombasa, Kenya — a work force that held the region's export economy in its hands and that led two city-wide general strikes — Frederick Cooper shows not only how an African urban working class came into being but also how colonial officials were forced to recast their ideas of African society. Illus. £25.00

SOUTH AFRICA'S CITY OF DIAMONDS

Mine Workers and Monopoly Capitalism in Kimberley, 1867–1895

The Cambridge History of China

Volume 1: The Ch'in and Han Empires 221 BC-AD 220

Edited by DENIS TWITCHETT and MICHAEL LOEWE

This volume begins with the establishment of the Ch'in empire in 221 BC and ends with the abdication of the last Han emperor in AD 220. This period witnessed major evolutionary changes in almost every aspect of China's history, but it is most notable for the emergence and growth of a centralised administration and imperial government. Like the other volumes in the series, Volume 1 summarises the information that is available in the primary sources in the light of the most recent critical scholarship.

The Cambridge History of China

Volume 13: Republican China 1912-1949, Part 2

Edited by JOHN K. FAIRBANK and ALBERT FEUERWERKER

This volume presents a narrative of the events in China's foreign relations to 1931, and in the political history of the Nationalist government and its Communist opponents from 1927 to 1937. Subsequent chapters analyse key facets of Chinese society, offering critical appraisal of the major achievements and problems. Finally, the volume examines the impact of Japan's invasion, China's war of resistance, the civil war to 1949, and the development of the thought of Mao Tse-tung.

The Cambridge History of Iran

Volume 6: The Timurid and Safavid Periods

Edited by PETER JACKSON and the late LAURENCE LOCKHART

This volume of the authoritative Cambridge History of Iran covers the history of Iran from the collapse of the Il-Khanid empire (c.1335) to the second quarter of the eighteenth century. The period is of special interest as one which, in the traditional view, witnessed the emergence of Iran as a 'national state'.

Political Domination in Africa

Reflections on the Limits of Power

Edited by PATRICK CHABAL

This collection of essays brings together historians and political scientists who have been involved in the process of rethinking African politics. Their approach seeks to integrate the history of Africa (from pre- to post-colonial) with concepts of political theory as they have been applied historically to the analysis of Europe and America.

The Survival of Empire

Portuguese Trade and Society in China and the South China Sea, 1630-1754

G. B. SOUZA

In this original study of the Portuguese Empire in the East, the Estado da Índia, George Souza looks in detail at the activities of Macao. The operations of Portuguese private merchants, the so-called 'country traders', are described and tellingly assessed in the wider context of the economic development of China and Southeast Asia in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.
