THE PASTORAL CARE OF THE DYING

Library of Pastoral Care

Norman Autton

16s. 6d. net

This comprehensive guide will be of value not only to the clergy but also to Christian doctors, nurses, and social workers. For, as the author emphasizes, the ministry to the dying is not the province of the clergy alone, nor of those others professionally concerned, but of the family, the neighbour, and the fellow Christian.

CREEDS, COUNCILS, AND CONTROVERSIES

J. Stevenson

45s. net

Documents illustrative of the history of the Church A.D. 337-461. The bulk of the work consists of 236 passages from contemporary authors, most in new or revised translations, each with introduction and commentary. Its usefulness is enhanced by the chronological tables and maps, features which were appreciated in the authors' former work, A New Eusebius, which illustrates the history of the Church up to 337 A.D.

THE RISE OF MORALISM

C. F. Allison

50s. net

Dr Allison argues that the position defended by Hooker, Andrewes, and Donne was opposed by Jeremy Taylor, Hammond, Thorndike, Bull, and Baxter; that the moralism of the last of these led to the deism of the 18th century and ultimately to the secularism of the 20th century. This decisive transition in English speaking theology provides a basis for understanding many modern dilemmas.

PRAY AND LIVE

In his Foreword Paul Singleton, C.R. writes, "I believe that this clear and able book will help many people to a deepening of their spiritual life and a clearer view of it against the background of the contemporary theological situation, and will release them from many of their fears and frustrations both in belief and in prayer."

THE PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL

Transactions of the Royal Philosophical Society of Glasgow

In the shadow of the Bomb a technological revolution is gathering momentum. Extreme specialisation has rendered many acutely aware of their isolation in a chosen groove of knowledge. They feel that one way to counter their narrowness of outlook is to make a conscious effort to acquaint themselves with essential advances in other fields than their own.

The Society provides through its lectures and discussions a meeting-ground for all such as are willing to share with others their own particular knowledge; and through The Philosophical Journal the Society publishes its proceedings in the hope of reaching a wider audience.

The Journal publishes not only papers given before the Society but also outside contributions on topics within the general aims of the Society.

'UNWRITTEN' AND 'SECRET'
APOSTOLIC TRADITIONS
IN THE
THEOLOGICAL THOUGHT
OF ST. BASIL OF CAESAREA

By The Reverend Dr. AMAND DE MENDIETA, M.A., B.D.

Edited by Professor T. F. Torrance

In this book the author, drawing from all the relevant texts of the treatise 'On the Holy Spirit', gives an interpretation of the theological thought of St. Basil of Caesarea. In order to investigate systematically St. Basil's theology he has to discuss four different subjects. First he deals with the use of unscriptural words in the writings against heretics. Secondly he analyses all the passages of the treatise in which the adjective 'unwritten' occurs, in order to define its precise meaning in connection with such words as traditions, witnesses, customs, and sacraments. Thirdly on the basis of the available evidence, he considers what St. Basil means by the 'secret' or 'esoteric' character which he attributes to the church's 'unwritten' traditions. Finally he expounds the thought of the Bishop of Caesarea concerning the 'apostolic' or 'patristic' origin of the church's 'unwritten' traditions.
