A RUSSIAN
CIVIL WAR DIARY

---

Alexis Babine in Saratov,
1917-1922

Donald J. Raleigh, editor

“There are very few surviving memoirs by witnesses to the tragic events in revolutionary Russia between 1917 and 1922. Babine’s diary is particularly useful because it reflects the experiences and thinking of an average member of the provincial middle class. It should be read with appreciation by [those] interested in the circumstances in which the Soviet regime was born.”—John Keep, University of Toronto

Memoirs of a
European Socialist

Adolf Sturmthal

Suzanne Sturmthal Russin, editor

“One of the most appealing books of memoirs anyone has written about European Social Democracy. Sturmthal (1903-1986) was a distinguished Austrian Socialist and scholar of international labor. . . . The book is bursting with wisdom about what went wrong in Europe between the wars, and how labor movements since then have lost touch with their past.”—William M. Johnston, University of Massachusetts

AMERICA BECOMES URBAN

The Development of U.S. Cities and Towns,
1780-1980

ERIC H. MONKKONEN

"The best reinterpretation of American urban history that I have seen in the last twenty five years. . . . It provides a new synthesis of urban America from its beginnings to the present."

BETWEEN CRAFT AND CLASS

Skilled Workers and Factory Politics in the United States and Britain, 1890-1922

JEFFREY HAYDU

"This is an extremely important book. It is the first attempt to bring a detailed comparative perspective to bear upon the growth of radical politics at the factory level. As such, it points in an important new direction for labour historians."

—Richard Price,
University of Maryland

OUR DAILY BREAD

The Peasant Question and Family Farming
in the Colombian Andes

NOLA REINHARDT

Our Daily Bread makes a valuable contribution to development studies by tackling head-on the debate over the persistence of the family farm. Reinhardt examines the dynamics of family farm agriculture in this study of a southwestern Andean community and analyzes the impact of national policies on its competitive position.
