

EDITORIAL

The Executive Committee of ASTR has agreed that, for the health of the journal, the editorship of Theatre Survey should circulate. In order to smooth the transition from one editor to another, a period of shared responsibility is useful.

The Publications Committee now invites applications for a Coeditor to share responsibility for the 1993 issues and assume the position of Editor for three years at the end of that time. That is, a Coeditor named at the November 1992 ASTR meeting would help prepare the May 1993 issue; would be responsible for the November 1993 issue, with the consultation of the outgoing Editor; and would become sole Editor with the May 1994 issue.
