

Reason and Reality is Volume 5 of the Royal Institute of Philosophy's annual lectures. Volumes 1, 2, 3, and 4, The Human Agent, Talk of God, Knowledge and Necessity, and The Proper Study were published by Macmillan in 1968, 1969, 1970, and 1971 respectively. Volume 6 will contain lectures on aesthetics and be entitled Philosophy and the Arts.

ROYAL INSTITUTE OF PHILOSOPHY

The Institute welcomes as members all those who are interested in philosophical problems, irrespective of their professional qualifications. Particulars may be obtained from the Secretary, Royal Institute of Philosophy, 14 Gordon Square, London, W.C.1.

In the same series

The Human Agent

'There are papers on the perennial problems of freedom and determinism, on the applicability of the notion of causation to human action, on the mind–body problem and on a number of other matters more loosely connected with the central theme. One who wished to know of the sort of thing discussed by contemporary British philosophers under these heads could not do better than to turn to this book for information.' – The Times Literary Supplement

'Most of them are as pleasing as vintage port. Smooth, elegant, some finesse, and occasional novelty.' – Keith Lehrer, The Philosophical Review

Talk of God

'The book is ideal seminar-material, an essential tool for any religious course, and a beneficial one for general philosophy courses . . . a volume which is calculated to stimulate thinking in many areas of philosophy.' – Keith Ward, Philosophical Books

Knowledge and Necessity

'This is a useful collection of original papers and will doubtless be a good choice for discussion in seminars by teachers and students of philosophy.' – Donald McQueen

The Proper Study

'This collection is on topical matters and is full of variety and interest. It refutes the claim, often made, that philosophers never apply themselves to what concerns society. It should be required reading for every sociology student; philosophers will read it anyway.' – British Book News

Macmillan