THE BRAZILIAN COTTON MANUFACTURE

TEXTILE ENTERPRISE IN AN UNDERDEVELOPED AREA, 1850-1950

By STANLEY J. STEIN. This book explores the background against which Brazilian industry developed, discusses the influence of the early feudal plantation system on more recent relations between cotton manufacturers, the state and labor, and suggests the need for certain revisions in current policies of management. $5.00

FROM FIEF TO INDENTURE

THE TRANSITION FROM FEUDAL TO NON-FEUDAL CONTRACT IN WESTERN EUROPE

By BRYCE D. LYON. This book, the first to deal with the fief-rente in Western Europe, provides a valuable comparative study of feudalism and of the financial, administrative, and military institutions of the principal feudal states from the late 10th century through the 15th. An appendix of thirty documents, hitherto unpublished, presents much new and important information of the fief-rente. $8.00

HYDROELECTRICITY AND INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

QUEBEC, 1898-1904

By JOHN H. DALES. In this study of the growth of the main Quebec power companies, Professor Dales shows how the "electrical revolution" has affected Quebec, how industrial development has coincided with hydroelectric development there, and how hydroelectricity can be of aid in relation to the general problem of economic development. $5.50
