

FRAMING THE SACRED

The Indian Churches of Early Colonial Mexico

By Eleanor Wake

$65.00 HARDCOVER · 368 PAGES, 238 B&W ILLUS, 26 COLOR PHOTOS

Christian churches erected in Mexico during the early colonial era represented the triumph of European conquest and religious domination. Or did they? Building on recent research that questions the “cultural” conquest of Mesoamerica, Eleanor Wake shows that colonial Mexican churches also reflected the beliefs of the indigenous communities that built them. Wake also examines how the art and architecture of Mexico’s religious structures reveals the indigenous people’s own decisions regarding the conversion program and their accommodation of the Christian message.

BONFIRES OF CULTURE

Franciscans, Indigenous Leaders, and the Inquisition in Early Mexico, 1524–1540

By Patricia Lopes Don

$34.95 HARDCOVER · 280 PAGES, 5 B&W ILLUS.

In their efforts to convert indigenous peoples, Franciscan friars brought the Spanish Inquisition to early-sixteenth-century Mexico. Patricia Lopes Don now investigates these trials to offer an inside look at this brief but consequential episode of Spanish methods of colonization, providing a fresh interpretation of an early period that has remained too long understudied.

HISTORY OF THE INDIES OF NEW SPAIN

By Fray Diego Durán

$39.95 PAPERBACK · 642 PAGES

A sixteenth-century Dominican friar, Fray Diego Durán was born in Spain but raised in Mexico. His firsthand experience of Mexican culture and fluency in the Nahuatl language made him one of the most sympathetic and knowledgeable of the missionary-ethnographers. His History of the Indies of New Spain, newly translated by Doris Heyden, is a vivid evocation of the Aztec world before the Spanish conquest.

World Crisis Effects on Social Security in Latin America and the Caribbean: Lessons and Policies
by Carmelo Mesa-Lago

This book, by the leading social policy analyst of Latin America, evaluates the effects of the global financial crisis on the region's social security. Carmelo Mesa-Lago takes a comparative approach to the analysis of pensions, health care and social assistance in 25 Latin American and Caribbean countries. The analysis, supported by a wealth of data, explores the key themes necessary to understand how Latin America's social security systems are affected by the global crisis: these include the impact of previous crises; the strengths and weaknesses of social security prior to the current slump; the adverse social effects of the recession which have already occurred as well as the potential ones; and the counter-cyclical measures taken. It also extracts lessons and recommends policies to cope with the negative effects of the crisis and to strengthen social protection in the future.

The World Trade Review was established at the initiative of the Secretariat of the World Trade Organization (WTO) in close cooperation with Cambridge University Press. It is an independent journal - the Editor and all but one member of the Editorial Board are drawn from university faculties - that includes articles written from economic, legal, political and inter-disciplinary perspectives on issues of relevance to the multilateral trading system. The journal also includes shorter articles seeking to rebut or challenge published papers.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Editorial Policy

The Journal of Latin American Studies is published four times a year, in February, May, August and November. Its editorial offices are located at the Institute for the Study of the Americas, University of London. The editorial board comprises area studies specialists based in the United Kingdom from all the principal social science disciplines, including history.

The Journal aims to publish recent research in the field of Latin American studies in economics, geography, politics, international relations, sociology, social anthropology and history. Articles on literature and the arts are not normally included, but the editors are pleased to consider contributions in the field of intellectual and cultural history. Articles with an inter-disciplinary approach are particularly welcome.

Manuscript Submission

Articles submitted to the Journal should be original contributions. They should not be under consideration by another journal, nor have been published or be awaiting publication elsewhere. Translations of articles that have already been published will not be accepted. If an author is publishing a closely related article elsewhere, this fact should be stated in a cover note to the editors. Authors of articles published in the Journal assign copyright to Cambridge University Press (with certain rights reserved) and will receive a copyright assignment form for signature on acceptance of their paper.

Articles must be no longer than 12,000 words, including footnotes, tables etc. The Journal is published in English, but articles may also be submitted in Spanish or Portuguese for peer review; if accepted for publication, the responsibility for translating articles rests with the author. The Journal's preference is that manuscripts should be submitted electronically as a Word document, with double spacing throughout and margins of at least one inch all round. All pages must be numbered consecutively. In order to ensure the anonymity of the reviewing process, care should be taken to ensure that any references which might identify the author are removed from the text. The title page should be separate from the main body of the text and include the author's name, academic post and institutional affiliation, the title of the article, and brief acknowledgements. An abstract of no more than 100 words, together with a list of key words, should appear at the beginning of the article.

The Journal publishes commissioned book reviews in each issue. Not all books received can be reviewed, and editorial policy gives preference to reviews of books regarded as being of major importance for the disciplines covered by the Journal. Unsolicited reviews cannot be considered.

Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any material for which they do not own copyright, to be used in both print and electronic media, and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgements are included in their manuscript.

Articles for consideration and all editorial correspondence should be addressed to The Editors, Journal of Latin American Studies, Institute for the Study of the Americas, 31 Tavistock Square, London WC1H 9HA, UK, or sent to jas@sas.ac.uk.

Proofs

Proofs of accepted articles will be sent to authors as pdf files for checking and correction of typesetting errors. Typographical or factual errors only may be changed at proof stage. The publisher reserves the right to charge authors for correction of non-typographical errors.

Offprints

Contributors will receive a pdf file of their article.

This issue has been printed on FSC-certified paper and cover board. FSC is an independent, non-governmental, not-for-profit organisation established to promote the responsible management of the world's forests. Please see www.fsc.org for information.
