

vanced Study and Research in China for graduate students and postdoctoral scholars in the natural sciences, engineering, social sciences, and humanities for 1982-83. This Program makes possible long-term study (10-12 months) or research (3-12 months) in affiliation with Chinese universities and research institutes. Application is open to citizens of the United States regardless of national origin, sex, or religious affiliation. Grants, the number of which depends on available funding, include transportation to and from China, stipend, living and travel allowances while in China, and a limited research and educational materials allowance. The Program does not provide dependent travel or support. The Program has two components; application should be made either to the Graduate Program or to the Research Program. Inquiries should be addressed to the CSCPRC, National Academy of Sciences, 2101 Constitution Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20418. Postmark/ mailing deadline for applications: November 6, 1981.

Arizona State University Center for Asian Studies Visiting Scholar Positions

The Center for Asian Studies at Arizona State University invites applications for its annual visiting scholar positions. The Center provides office space, research assistance, and secretarial support for an academic year to specialists from a variety of disciplines in Asian studies. (No stipend is provided, however.) Those interested in a year in residence at the Center should send a current vita and research project statement to: Sheldon Simon, Director, Center for Asian Studies, Arizona State University, Tempe, Arizona 85281.

Tinker Fellowships

The Tinker Fellowships provide professionals interested in Latin American and Iberian studies the opportunity to do field research within their discipline or between disciplines or for public policy in the areas of the Foundation's interests in the social science, marine science, and international relations. The annual competition is open to scholars from the U.S., Canada, Spain and Portugal and Latin America who have received their doctorate no less than three, but no more than ten, years prior to the time of application. The one-year Fellowship carries a stipend of $18,000 and up to $2,000 for travel.

For more information write: The Tinker Foundation, 645 Madison Avenue, New York, New York 10022.

Announcement of Awards

American Council on Education Fellows

Three political scientists are among the 42 fellows who have been selected as 1981-82 Fellows of The American Council on Education. The Fellows Program offers those selected the opportunity to participate in academic administration and policy making either at their home institution or on a host campus. During the Fellowship year each participant works with at least two "members," most often the President and chief academic officer. The three political scientists are: Channing Cox, Dickinson State College; E. Terrence Jones, University of Missouri-St. Louis; and Norma C. Noonan, Augsburg College.

1981 German Marshall Fund Fellows

The German Marshall Fund of the United States announces awards totalling $438,000 to 15 Research Fellows in its 1981 Fellowship Program. The Fellows were selected from over 225 North American and European applicants.

The German Marshall Fund Fellowship supports comparative analysis of political, social, and economic problems common to advanced industrial societies. Appointments permit full-time research and writing on individual projects for up to one year.

Research and Training Support

Fellows were recommended to the Trustees of the Fund by an independent review panel consisting of Nancy Barrett, American University, Washington, D.C., economics; Lorna Marsden, University of Toronto, Canada, sociology; and Gianfranco Pasquino, University of Bologna, Italy, political science.

The 1981 Fellows are:

Guiliano Amato, University of Rome, Italy, government health and housing policy in the U.S. and Italy.

James Bjorkman, University of Wisconsin-Madison, political context of health service provision in Sweden, the U.K. and the U.S.

Gerald Feldman, University of California, Berkeley, a social and political history of the 1914-1924 German inflation, and its consequences.

David Fogel, University of Illinois, Chicago, selected European community-based alternatives to incarceration in sentencing criminal offenders.

Gary Freeman, University of Texas, Austin, pensions and the politics of productivity in Europe and America.

Heleen Ietswaart, French Ministry of Justice, Paris, U.S. experimentation with alternatives to formal litigation (mediation, arbitration, the use of lay judges, among others), with a view to their applicability in Europe.

Sheila Jasanoff, Cornell University, occupational health and safety policies in the U.K., West Germany and the U.S.

Peter Lange, Harvard University, union consent to wage regulation in advanced industrial democracies.

Arthur MacEwan, University of Massachusetts, Boston, relationship between major changes in the international economic order and the disruption of stable economic expansion in the U.S.

Amando de Miguel, University of Barcelona, Spain, fertility trends in the Catholic populations of the U.S., Spain, and Mexico.

Elizabeth Roistacher, Queens College, City University of New York, implications of inflation for housing finance institutions in the U.S., the U.K., and selected European countries.

Sandra Rosenbloom, University of Texas,

Austin, transportation planning implications of the increased employment of women with children.

Chiara Saraceno, University of Trento, Italy, changing patterns of shared parenting and homemaking in Italy and the U.S.

Wolfgang Teckenberg, University of Kiel, Federal Republic of Germany, career lines and earnings determination in the U.S. and West German labor markets.

Harold Wolman, Urban Institute, Washington, D.C., adjustment of U.S. and U.K. local governments to fiscal pressure.

1982 Fellowship Program flyers and materials will be available in late summer. The deadline for applications in the 1982 program is November 30, 1981. The address of The Fund is 11 Dupont Circle, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Taft Receives Xavier Political Science Award

Robert Taft, Jr., former senator from Ohio, received the 1981 Political Science Award from Xavier University at a May 15 luncheon on the campus.

Taft received the award "for encouraging responsible, people-oriented government . . . for his efforts in developing and maintaining cooperation between the government and the private sector; and for his activities on behalf of the advancement of civil rights."

Taft currently heads up the Washington, D.C., law offices of Taft, Stettinius & Hollister.

Comparative Study of Public Employment

The Centre for the Study of Public Policy at the University of Strathclyde has been awarded a grant of £39,055 from the Anglo-German Foundation, London, to undertake a Europe-wide two-year study of the impact of changes in public employment upon national employment in the 1980s. The project is headed by Professor Richard Rose, director of the Centre.

The first priority of the study is to compile accurate figures of the total number of people working in public employment in major Western nations, and to ascertain whether numbers are increasing, decreasing or remaining relatively stable. Initial surveys indicate that one-quarter or more of the labor force normally works in the public sector.

The second priority is to examine the causes of change in public employment, including the relative importance of growth in major welfare programs, such as health and education; in nationalized industries and firms taken over from the private sector; and change, including contraction, in traditional fields of government such as national defense. Preliminary studies show that there is no general tendency for government to grow; causes are specific to particular programs.

Thirdly, the study will examine the impact of public employment upon national employment and unemployment totals, and the specific impact upon the employment of women, part-time workers, union members and youths, and upon regional employment patterns. Preliminary studies show that public employment is not evenly distributed among all groups in society; it is specially important to the groups last named.

The study will examine trends in public employment in Britain, Germany, France, Italy, Sweden and the United States in the past quarter-century—and consider the implications of trends for public policies in the 1980s. Klaus Dieter Schmidt of the Institut fuer Weltwirtschaft, Kiel, will be involved in the study as a consultant on Germany. The project will extend work already undertaken by a multi-team at the Centre for the Study of Public Policy and published in five Strathclyde Studies in Public Policy.

Further details from Professor Richard Rose, Director, Centre for the Study of Public Policy, University of Strathclyde, McCance Building, Richmond Street, Glasgow, G1, 1XQ. Phone: 041 552 4400, ext. 2218 (office); 0436 2164 (home).

1981 Herbert Hoover Presidential Fellowship and Grants-in-Aid

The Herbert Hoover Presidential Library Association, Inc. has announced the presentation of 11 new research awards under its Herbert Hoover Presidential Fellowship and Grant Program.

Named as Hoover Scholars to receive Beahl T. and Irene H. Perrine Fellowships were Kendrick A. Clements, University of South Carolina; Priscilla M. Roberts, Princeton University; and Elliot A. Rosen, Rutgers University.

Named as Hoover Scholars to receive travel and per diem grants were Peter H. Buckingham, Southwest Texas State University; Stanley Coben, UCLA; Lawrence C. Kelly, North Texas State University; A. Cash Koeniger, Mississippi State University; Ronald S. Marmarelli, Central Michigan University; David B. Miller, Black Hills (South Dakota) State College; Stanley Vittoz, University of Pennsylvania; and William O. Walker, III, Ohio University.

Since establishment of the Program in 1978, the Association has awarded eight fellowships and 27 grants totaling more than $75,000. Program information may be obtained by writing Chairman, Fellowship and Grant Committee, Herbert Hoover Presidential Library Association, Inc., P.O. Box 696, West Branch, Iowa 53258.

ACLS/SSRCC Awards

The American Council of Learned Societies and The Social Science Research Council have made the following awards to political scientists:

Fellowships for Postdoctoral Research in the Social Sciences

Richard Ashcraft, professor of political science, University of California, Los Angeles: Revolutionary Politics and Locke's Two Treatises of Government.

Stephen K. White, assistant professor of political philosophy, University of Hartford: Jurgen Habermas's Communicative Ethics and Its Implications for Political Philosophy.

Research and Training Support

Program in Chinese Studies

Michael L. Baron, lecturer in political science and research associate, East Asian Institute, Columbia University, for study of modern Chinese and research on Chinese interpretation of American policy and motives (1945-1949).

Kathleen J. Hartford, assistant professor of political science, Amherst College, for research on agrarian change in Hebei province (1900-1949) and advanced training in agricultural economics.

Program on East European Studies

Ivan Svitak, professor of philosophy and political science, California State University, Chico: The Death of Jan Masaryk.

Susan L. Woodward, assistant professor of political science, Williams College: The Influence of Public Policy on Unemployment in Yugoslavia, 1952-1981.

International Doctoral Research Fellowships

Africa

Norma J. Kriger, Ph.D. candidate in political science, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, for research in Zimbabwe on the political economy of sanctions, 1965-1979.

China

James W. Tong, Ph.D. candidate in political science, University of Michigan, for research in Tokyo, Kyoto, Taipei, and China on correlates of rebellions in the Ming dynasty, 1403-1644.

Latin America and Caribbean

Amparo Mendendez-Carrion, Ph.D. candidate in political science, School for Advanced International Studies, The Johns Hopkins University, for research in Ecuador on the voting behavior of the urban poor in Guayaquil, 1952-1978.

Near and Middle East

John M. Sadowski, Ph.D. candidate in political science, University of California, Los Angeles, for research in Lebanon and Syria on the social bases of state formation in the Syrian Arab Republic, 1945-1970.

Western Europe

Carol A. Mershon Connor, Ph.D. candidate in political science, Yale University, for research in Italy on industrial conflict, state enterprise, and the political consequences of strikes against state-owned firms.

Jonas G. Pontusson, Ph.D. candidate in political science, University of California, Berkeley, for research in Sweden on class conflict and industrial adjustment.

Peter A. Swenson, Ph.D. candidate in political science, Yale University, for research in West Germany and Sweden on the development of the organizational structure of German and Swedish labor since 1965.

Peter W. White, Ph.D. candidate in political science, Columbia University, for research in the United Kingdom on international monetary relations and the political economy of change in the international monetary regime, 1933-1936.

Grants for International Postdoctoral Research

Africa

Thomas J. Biersteker, assistant professor of political science, Yale University, for research in Nigeria on indigenization and the Nigerian bourgeoisie.

Japan

Roger W. Bowen, assistant professor of government, Colby College, for research in Japan on rebellion and democracy in Taisho, Japan.

Latin America and Caribbean

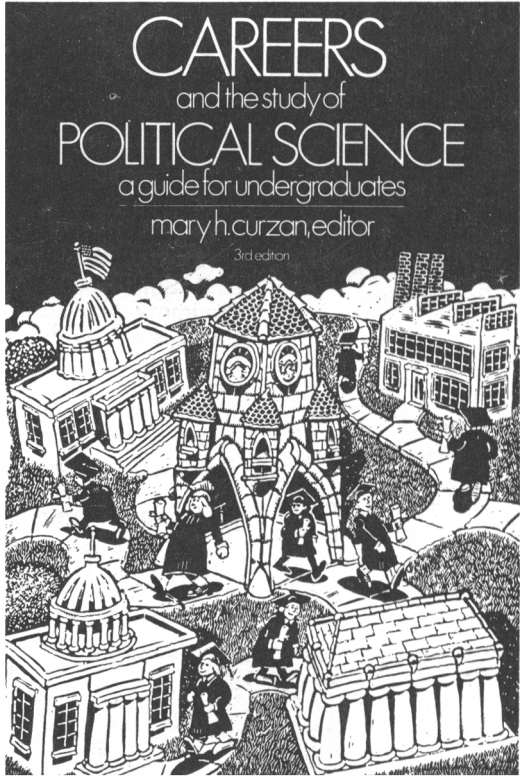

Steven E. Sanderson, assistant professor of political science, University of Florida, for research in Mexico on recent transformations in Mexican agriculture.

Evelyn Huber Stephens, assistant professor of political science, College of the Holy Cross, for research in Jamaica on the prospects for a democratic transition to socialism.

Ohio State University Distinguished Service Award to Francis Aumann

Francis Aumann, Professor Emeritus of Political Science at Ohio State University, has been awarded one of seven Distinguished Service Awards by the University this year for his 40 years of distinguished work at Ohio State University as a political scientist and faculty member.

ANNOUNCING an Expanded New Third Edition of . . .

ORDER FORM

Single copies are available for $1.50 each; orders under 50 copies must be PREPAID.

Enclosed is a check for $ _____ for _____ copies.

Please bill $ _____ for _____ copies.

Bulk Orders	APSA Departmental Service Member	Non-Member
10 copies	$ 5.50	$ 7.50
50 copies	$22.50	$32.50
100 copies	$40.00	$60.00

Send to: _____

_____ Zip _____

Return this form with check to:
 Departmental Service Program
 American Political Science Association
 1527 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W.
 Washington, D.C. 20036