

A NEW FRANK CASS JOURNAL
SLAVERY AND ABOLITION
A Journal of Comparative Studies

SLAVERY AND ABOLITION is the first journal devoted in its entirety to a discussion of the demographic, socio-economic, historic and psychological aspects of human bondage from ancient times down to our own era. Contributions are welcome from scholars of established repute, as well as from younger academics of promise. As a regular feature, SLAVERY AND ABOLITION will include reviews and review articles, and an effort will be made to keep readers abreast of important periodic literature. On occasion, a whole issue of the journal will be devoted to topics of significant interest.

Editors: Professor John Ralph Willis, Near Eastern Studies Department, Princeton University
Professor C. Duncan Rice, Hamilton College, Clinton, New York

Contents of the first issue include:

Genesis, Judaism and the 'Sons of Ham': Ephraim Isaac

THE JOURNAL OF DEVELOPMENT STUDIES

Since its foundation in 1964 THE JOURNAL OF DEVELOPMENT STUDIES has established itself as a major international forum for the discussion of the fundamental issues of development. It has published many seminal articles, opened up many areas of debate, and broadened its scope to interpret the concept of development in its widest sense. Each issue contains a number of full-length research articles, notes and comments, review articles and a book review section.

EDITORS: David Lehmann, Assistant Director of Development Studies, University of Cambridge
Michael Lipton, Professorial Fellow at the Institute of Development Studies, University of Sussex

THE JOURNAL OF MODERN AFRICAN STUDIES

The Journal offers a quarterly survey of politics, economics, and related topics in contemporary Africa.

The main emphasis is upon the peoples and policies, the problems and progress of this dynamic and disparate continent; upon the many societies that are evolving rather than the essential characteristics of the old; upon the present, not on the more distant past. The best current work is sought from specialists in different academic disciplines, whose contributions can illuminate and cross-fertilise one another.

The Journal seeks to promote a deeper understanding of what is happening in Africa today. It is intended for both the political scientist and the practical politician, the administrator and the advocate, the economist and the educator, the banker and the business man, the diplomat and the technocrat, the civil servant and the nationalist leader. All have something to contribute to these pages and, it is hoped, much to learn from them.

Editorial policy avoids commitment to any political viewpoint or ideology, whether imperialism, pan-Africanism, capitalism, socialism, or nationalism. Such concepts, however, have relevance to the modern African situation, and merit serious discussion, often from several different points of view, in order that controversial issues may be fairly examined.
