"We have experimentally proved that Listerine is a powerful antiseptic, preventing the development of bacteria and decomposition of vegetable infusions."—British Medical Journal, May 3, 1890.

LISTERINE

A safe, non-poisonous, unirritating antiseptic solution

LISTERINE is particularly useful in the treatment of abnormal conditions of the mucosa, and admirably suited for a wash, gargle, or douche, in catarrhal conditions of the nose and throat.

LISTERINE in proper dilution may be freely and continuously used without prejudicial effect, either by injection or spray, in all the natural cavities of the body.

LISTERINE embodies a two-fold antiseptic effect, in that after the evaporation of its volatile constituents—thyme, eucalyptus, mentha, gaultheria, and ethyl alcohol—a film of boracic and benzoic acids remains upon the surface to which Listerine has been applied, affording more prolonged antiseptic protection.

LISTERINE is a trustworthy surgical dressing; it has no injurious effect upon the tissues in which the healing process is going on.

LISTERINE in teaspoonful doses will often afford relief in fermentative dyspepsia, and is largely prescribed, with excellent results, in the various forms of diarrhoea occurring in infants and adults.

LISTERINE literature, including special pamphlets upon Respiratory Diseases, may be had, by physicians, upon application to

Trustworthy Serum

“P., D. & Co.” ANTIDIPHTHERIA SERUM is prepared under the most rigid precautions by highly qualified bacteriologists in the firm's own laboratories, which are officially inspected and licensed.

As an additional security, this serum is submitted to independent tests in the Pathological Laboratory of the University of Cambridge (Eng.), and there certified as to its antitoxin unit potency, its freedom from micro-organisms and from excess of antiseptic.

The serum is supplied in two grades, which differ only in the volume in which a given number of antitoxin units is contained. “Standard Grade” contains about 450 a. u. per c.c. and “Special Grade” contains from 900 to 1000 or more a. u. per c.c.

“STANDARD GRADE” ANTIDIPHTHERIA SERUM (P., D. & Co.) is supplied in bulbs containing 2000 or 3000 a. u.

“SPECIAL GRADE” ANTIDIPHTHERIA SERUM (P., D. & Co.) is supplied in bulbs containing 2000, 4000, 6000 or 8000 a. u.
