

Contents

List of Figures	page viii
Acknowledgments	x
Note on Transcription and Citation	xiv
List of Abbreviations	xv
Prologue: Milton's Trees	I
Introduction: Authorizing English Botany	19
PART I A HISTORY OF HERBALS
1 Authorship, Book History, and the Effects of Artifacts	55
2 The Stationers' Company and Constraints on English Printing	89
3 Salubrious Illustration and the Economics of English Herbals	104
PART II ANONYMITY IN THE PRINTED ENGLISH HERBAL
4 Reframing Competition: The Curious Case of the Little Herball	125
5 The Grete Herball and Evidence in the Margins	157
6 "Unpublished Virtues of the Earth": Books of Healing on the English Renaissance Stage	182
PART III AUTHORS AND THE PRINTED ENGLISH HERBAL
7 William Turner and the Medical Book Trade	207
8 John Norton and the Redemption of John Gerard	237
Bibliography	263
Index	283