

Re-entry Grants for
African Scholars
Pursuing Education Research

The Rockefeller
Foundation

This grants program is designed to assist in the professional re-establishment of talented African scholars who are returning from doctoral studies abroad and have a research interest in issues related to the revitalization and development of education in sub-Saharan Africa.

All proposed projects must include an explicit and substantial focus on female school participation as part of the set of educational issues to be examined.

Applicants may submit research proposals prior to or within one year of returning to their Africa-based institutions. Grants are made to the scholar, but the proposal must be endorsed by the African institution where the applicant will be a full-time staff member. Also required are: two letters of recommendation from academic supervisors at the institution where the candidate carried out doctoral study; postgraduate transcripts; and a resume.

There are no deadlines for submission of proposals. For a full description of the program, write to:

RESEARCH IN AFRICAN LITERATURES

Edited by Richard Bjornson

Research in African Literatures provides a stimulating forum for the discussion of the oral and written literatures of Africa. In addition, RAL serves the broader needs of the academic community by including reports on recent research, university literature programs, library and archival resources, dissertations, and conferences in the field. Each issue includes a lively book review section, and there are frequent illustrations by African artists. Published quarterly.

THE JOURNAL OF MODERN AFRICAN STUDIES

The Journal offers a quarterly survey of politics, economics, and related topics in contemporary Africa.

The main emphasis is upon the peoples and policies, the problems and progress of this dynamic and disparate continent; upon the many societies that are evolving rather than the essential characteristics of the old; upon the present, not on the more distant past. The best current work is sought from specialists in different academic disciplines, whose contributions can illuminate and cross-fertilise one another.

The Journal seeks to promote a deeper understanding of what is happening in Africa today. It is intended for both the political scientist and the practical politician, the administrator and the advocate, the economist and the educator, the banker and the business man, the diplomat and the technocrat, the civil servant and the nationalist leader. All have something to contribute to these pages and, it is hoped, much to learn from them.

Editorial policy avoids commitment to any political viewpoint or ideology, whether imperialism, pan-Africanism, capitalism, socialism, or nationalism. Such concepts, however, have relevance to the modern African situation, and merit serious discussion, often from several different points of view, in order that controversial issues may be fairly examined.
