REDISCOVERING THE BRITISH EMPIRE

edited by Barry J. Ward

Orig. Ed. 2002 (Open Forum Series)

174 pp. ISBN 1-57524-124-2

Paper $17.50

The importance of studying Britain's past has never been in serious dispute. What has been in play, however, is just how to go about this study, especially when considering Britain's worldwide imperial system. This volume is an effort to begin reconciling three perspectives: first, the imperialistic viewpoint that the British transformed the world into their own image; second, the revisionist approach that characterizes the history of the British Empire as essentially one of collaboration and interaction between the British and those they colonized; and, third, postcolonial criticism that focuses on opposition to imperialism and Western values. The essays in this book carry the reader into lively debates based on rigorous historical inquiry. They will be read with interest by those concerned not merely with the history of the British Empire but with the legacy of European imperialism.

IN NATURE'S NAME

An Anthology of Women's Writing and Illustration, 1780–1930
 Edited by Barbara T. Gates

"In Nature's Name, Barbara Gates's splendid new anthology, is packed with treasures and discoveries. Learned, lavishly illustrated and meticulously annotated, the book is bound to appeal to a range of readers, from feminist scholars to historians of science, from students of Romanticism, Victorianism and modernism to lovers of what one of the nineteenth-century authors represented here described as that 'charming beautifier Dame Nature.'" —Sandra M. Gilbert, coeditor of The Norton Anthology of Literature by Women

CIVILISING SUBJECTS

Metropole and Colony in the English Imagination 1830–1867
 Catherine Hall

"Provides a compelling account of the ways in which the various imperial projects of the nineteenth century shaped domestic political, evangelical and cultural agendas. This detailed study of Victorian empire and English national culture is sure to become the definitive study of the decade and beyond." —Kathleen Wilson, author of The Sense of the People
