

Volume 9 Part 4 October 1979

British Journal of Political Science

Cambridge University Press

British Journal of Political Science

Editor: IVOR CREWE, University of Essex

Review Articles Editor: JOHN GRAY, Jesus College, Oxford

Editorial Board

BRIAN BARRY, University of Chicago

HUGH BERRINGTON, University of Newcastle upon Tyne

ARCHIE BROWN, St Antony's College, Oxford

ROBERT DOWSE, University of Exeter

JACK HAYWARD, University of Hull

ANTHONY KING, University of Essex

MAURICE KOGAN, Brunel University

KENNETH MINOGUE, London School of Economics and Political Science

SAMUEL C. PATTERSON, University of Iowa

ROBERT D. PUTNAM, University of Michigan

AUSTIN RANNEY, American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research

GRAHAM WILSON, University of Essex

EDITORIAL POLICY

The British Journal of Political Science is an independent journal, whose policy is set by its editorial board. It is committed to no methodological orthodoxy over and above the normal canons of scholarship: clear and consistent use of words, logical and mathematical validity, and the use of appropriate evidence to substantiate empirical statements. Contributions are invited in all fields of political science, including political philosophy and political sociology. Work addressed to problems of general significance to students of politics will be published whatever the period(s) or place(s) drawn upon for evidence.

© Cambridge University Press 1979

COPYING

This journal is registered with the Copyright Clearance Center, New York. Organizations in the USA who are also registered with C.C.C. may therefore copy material (beyond the limits permitted by sections 107 and 108 of US © law) subject to payment to C.C.C. of the per-copy fee indicated in the code on the first page of the article. This consent does not extend to multiple copying for promotional or commercial purposes.

ISI Tear Service, 325 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19106, USA, is authorised to supply single copies of separate articles for private use only.

For all other use, permission should be sought from the Cambridge or New York offices of the Cambridge University Press.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

British Journal of Political Science (ISSN 0007-1234) is published quarterly in January, April, July and October. The subscription price of a volume (which includes postage) is £13.00 (US $32.00) for individuals ordering direct from the publishers and certifying that the Journal is for their personal use; for institutions it is £24.00 net in UK (US $58.50 in USA and Canada). Single parts cost £7.00 net in UK (US $17.50 in USA and Canada) plus postage. Four parts form a volume. Orders may be sent to a bookseller, subscription agent or to the publishers: Cambridge University Press, P.O. Box 110, Cambridge CB2 3RL, or in the USA and Canada to Cambridge University Press, 32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 1002. Copies of the journal for subscribers in the USA and Canada are sent by air to New York to arrive with minimum delay. Second class postage paid at New York, N.Y. POSTMASTER: send address changes in USA and Canada to Cambridge University Press, 32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022.

Claims for missing issues will be considered only if made immediately upon receipt of the subsequent issue.

CAMBRIDGE

SOVIET AND EAST EUROPEAN STUDIES

Lenin's Government

Sovnarkom 1917-1922

T. H. RIGBY

Dr Rigby offers the first detailed account of the Bolsheviks' attempts to create a socialist 'cabinet' to elaborate effective machinery for governing Russia after the Revolution. He shows how it was gradually overshadowed by the Politburo and explains why Lenin's efforts to reverse this process failed.

£16.75 net

Paperback edition

Philosophers of Peace and War

Kant, Clausewitz, Marx, Engels and Tolstoy

W. B. GALLIE

'All Professor Gallie's authors turned their backs on the eighteenth-century view of war . . . But none of them raised the fundamental question: just what is the role of force, of violence, in that or any society? It is not the least merit of this excellent book that the author, through what he calls a "time-transcending dialogue" does just that.'

The Economist

Paperback £2.95 net

CAMBRIDGE SURVEYS OF ECONOMIC LITERATURE

Public Choice

DENNIS C. MUELLER

Why do governments exist? How do the preferences of voters get recorded and aggregated under different voting rules? What is the difference between the outcomes under representative government and those of direct democracy? What are the normative underpinnings of the state? These basic questions are explored in this review of the recent major contributions to the public choice literature.

Hard covers £10.50 net

Paperback £3.95 net

The Reorganisation of British Local Government

Old Orthodoxies and a Political Perspective

JOHN DEARLOVE

The author claims that much of the traditional wisdom about local government is at odds with the essential reality of local politics, and that the old orthodoxies actually constitute a barrier to understanding by concealing the ideological positions which lie behind the façade of reorganisation. This book aims to make sense of the recent changes, and the discussion they have generated.

Hard covers £14.50 net

Paperback £3.95 net

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Oxford University Press

Political, Electoral, and Spatial Systems

R. J. Johnston

This book presents a systematic view of the interrelationships between geographical and political variables and emphasizes their consequences for the geography of inequality and the nature of democracy. Its main argument is that geographical variation in the level of economic and social well-being results from the electoral activities of political parties competing to gain and retain power. £7.95 paper covers £4.50
Contemporary Problems in Geography

Parliaments and English Politics 1621-1629

Conrad Russell

Between 1621 and 1629, there were seven sessions of five Parliaments. This book provides a continuous narrative of the events of these Parliaments, and shows that they were very different from one another. The last Parliaments of James's reign were more harmonious than the early ones of Charles's reign. In this change the war effort emerges as the main disruptive force. £14

The Arrogance of Humanism

David Ehrenfeld

Humanism believes that man can solve any problem and overcome any obstacle if only he is given the time and the resources to do so. The author traces the origins of this idea and shows how it has permeated every aspect of our daily lives. He explains the political, philosophical, and scientific reasons why this idea that we can control our environments and engineer our own destiny is a myth, and why we have accepted it nonetheless. £4.50

The House of Commons in the Twentieth Century

Edited by S. A. Walkland

This collection of essays by members of the Study of Parliament group traces the organization and procedural development of the House of Commons in the twentieth century. It fills numerous gaps in parliamentary scholarship, particularly for the interwar years, and is rounded out by chapters on the Members of Parliament themselves, and on relations with the mass media. £20
