

nota bene™

A powerful computer program specifically designed for scholarly writing

Nota Bene has all the features of an advanced word processing program: a fast search capability, split- and full-screen windows, mailmerge, and automatic generation of tables and contents. In addition, however, it has three features, rarely found on office word processing systems, which will be particularly attractive to the scholar and academic author:

- ▶ letter forms and accents from several European languages can be displayed on screen and printed
- ▶ supplies several pre-set style sheets so that documents can be swiftly moved from an MLA to a Chicago format, etc.
- ▶ combines advanced word processing with a 'text-base' data retrieval system which greatly facilitates preparation of indexes

'... what differentiates Nota Bene from the competition is its free-form text data management system. The text base is ideal for taking notes of any length and later locating and compiling them into a complete document. Never before has a PC word processor of such range and power been coupled with these kinds of searching skills.' PC World March 1986

Nota Bene runs on the IBM/PC, and is exclusively distributed in the United Kingdom and Eire by Oxford University Press, and is the first in a range of scholarly software published by the Press.

The new Oxford Shakespeare

William Shakespeare: The Complete Works

General Editors: Stanley Wells and Gary Taylor

This major new edition of Shakespeare's complete works is the result of the most fundamental rethinking of the text and presentation of the works ever undertaken. The nature and authority of the early documents have been thoroughly re-examined, and the canon and chronological order of composition freshly established. Spelling and punctuation are modernized, and there is a brief introduction to each work as well as an illuminating and informative General Introduction.

Elegantly designed and handsomely bound, the new Oxford Shakespeare combines superb presentation with first-class scholarship in an edition which will be used and referred to by students, scholars, general readers, actors, and directors, for many years to come.

THEATRE RESEARCH / RECHERCHES THEATRALES

The International Federation published the journal Theatre Research/Recherches Théâtrales from 1959 to 1975 when it was succeeded by Theatre Research International. During these years many important articles of original research were published covering the whole field of theatre history from the earliest times, and particularly Shakespeare and the Elizabethan period, to more recent figures such as Strindberg, Craig and Beckett. There have been special issues on the themes of Opera, the Playwright as Director, and Reinhardt; a check-list of world theatre on records; and reports on International Conferences and Symposia of the I.F.T.R.

In all 14 volumes were published in 36 issues including a complete index. Most back issues are still available.

University and institutional libraries, and especially those who have subscribed to the new journal Theatre Research International, are recommended to take this opportunity of completing their holding of the earlier issues of this publication, while copies last.

Price: per issue £2 ($3); per volume £4 ($6) plus postage

A few complete runs of the 14 volumes (with two issues in facsimile) are available at £50 ($75). Postage extra.
