Disestablishment in Ireland and Wales

P. M. H. Bell

95s

Church Historical Society 90

A study of the movements which led to the disestablishment of the Church in Ireland one hundred years ago and of the Church in Wales fifty years ago. Particularly illuminating is the comparison of the intended effects of disestablishment in both instances studied, and the actual and ironic effects.

The Faith of Dante Alighieri

Geoffrey F. Nuttall

10s

Dr Nuttall, writing for both the scholar and the ordinary reader of Dante's Divine Comedy, gives a vividly personal impression of Dante as man and Christian.

Understanding the Adolescent

Michael Hare Duke

15s

Library of Pastoral Care

The Bishop of St Andrews, and former Pastoral Director of the Clinical Theology Centre, Nottingham, writes with sympathetic insight on a matter crucial to pastor, teacher, and parent.

Preaching Today

D. W. Cleverly Ford

15s

Declaring the Faith 3

A searching scrutiny of the preacher's difficulties and opportunities in present-day circumstances.

House Groups

Michael J. Skinner

15s

Declaring the Faith 4

Practical advice, including syllabuses, on the formation and running of a house group.

R.K.HARRISON'S
major technical Introduction
to the Old Testament

Coming 13 January 1970

A major technical introduction consisting of two main sections:

1. A series of chapters surveying the progress of critical thought relating to the development of Old Testament study, the text and canon; archaeology; chronology; history; religion and Old Testament theology. Particular notice is taken of the manner in which earlier critical views have been modified by more recent studies.
2. A concise study of the three sections of the Hebrew canon, surveying the views of critical and conservative scholars regarding questions of authorship, composition, sources, dating and the like of each Old Testament book, and presenting the conclusions of the author.

A New Testament Commentary

This is an ENTIRELY NEW Commentary of 672 pages
Based on the Revised Standard Version

General Editor G. C. D. HOWLEY Consulting Editors F. F. BRUCE, H. L. ELLISON
This volume, the work of 25 contributors, is based upon the belief in the divine inspiration and authority of Holy Scripture. The 14 introductory articles provide a valuable background to Bible study. In these, as in the commentaries the aim has been to expound the sacred text in the light of contemporary Christian scholarship.

CONCILIUM

Theology in the Age of Renewal

CONCILIUM FIVE YEARS ON

Concilium started in January 1965 as a direct result of the fruitful and sometimes abrasive contact between bishops and theologians during Vatican II. A small group of people, Karl Rahner among them, felt the need at the end of the Council for an international vehicle that could pursue the primary themes to which several years of heightened theological awareness had given rise.

From small beginnings, Concilium quickly amassed a considerable world subscription and a total readership of over 100,000. It achieved this by expressing a lively and intelligent interest across the whole range of theological concern in 10 issues per annum, each of which was devoted to a particular field of theology.

Originally planned for five years, the public demand for what had in the meantime become a successful journal of considerable importance to anyone who wished to keep abreast of theological speculation, the meaning of orthodoxy, and the implications of faith for social and political life, has led to agreement on another five-year run beginning in January 1970. Indeed, the continuing turbulence in Church and World, and the growing need for a mutual exchange of driving force and inspiration, suggests a greater need than ever for the only theological journal in the world that can bring these interests together by seeking and expressing comment and opinion from all quarters.

A NEW FORMAT

A NEW PRICE

As from January 1970 Concilium will measure  $8\frac{3}{4}'' \times 5\frac{1}{2}''$  and each issue will contain approximately 160 pages. The price of single copies will be 16s per copy and the price of an annual subscription £7. A three-year subscription will cost £18. Subscriptions and enquiries should be sent to Burns & Oates Ltd, 25 Ashley Place, London SW1
