THE WORLD BEYOND EUROPE

An Introduction to the History of Africa,
India, Southeast Asia, and the Far East

George Alexander Lensen

Offers a descriptive account of the historical heritage and conditions of the most significant non-Western areas of the world—Africa, India, Southeast Asia, China, Korea, and Japan—in three main periods of contact with the West: the age of exploration, the age of imperialism, and the period from the Russo-Japanese War to the present.

RUSSIAN PANORAMA

By K. P. S. MENON, Indian Ambassador to Russia. The Indian ambassador has had exceptional opportunities to travel during his ten-year tenure in Moscow: to Siberia and Mongolia, to the republics of Soviet Central Asia, and to Chinese Central Asia, especially the province of Sinkiang and the city of Urumchi, which he is able to compare with his impressions when he was ambassador to China in 1947-48. His shrewd observations, sympathy, and quiet humor make his book of exceptional interest. 9 illustrations; 2 maps. $4.00

FOLK ELEMENTS IN BURMESE BUDDHISM

By MAUNG HTIN AUNG. The educational advisor to the Prime Minister of Burma and Ambassador-at-Large considers the folk elements present in Burmese Buddhism today and attempts to trace their origins in the native cults flourishing before the eleventh century. The author combines humorous and scholarly descriptions of the world of Burmese alchemy and astrology, and the philosopher's pursuit of the eternal life. $2.90

HINDUISM

By R. C. ZAEHNER, Spalding Professor of Eastern Religions and Ethics, Oxford University. In this volume Professor Zaehner deals with the hard core of changeless essentials in Hinduism instead of attempting to give the maximum number of facts on the subject. (Home University Library) $1.70

THE EVOLUTION OF INDIA AND PAKISTAN 1858-1947

By C. H. PHILIPS. Vol. IV from the series Select Documents on the History of India and Pakistan. Drawing on valuable and as yet largely unused source materials including the official and private correspondence of the Secretaries of State and Viceroys of British India, this is the first in a projected four volume series of documents illustrating the political, administrative, military, economic, social and constitutional aspects of the modern evolution of India and Pakistan. $14.40

The Decline of Constitutional Democracy in Indonesia

By HERBERT FEITH, Monash University, Australia

DR. FEITH examines and analyzes the reasons for the failure of the attempt to utilize western political institutions for solving the problems left to Indonesia following the disruption of World War II, Japanese occupation, and the Indonesian revolution. After an introduction discussing the impact of the revolution, the major part of the book concerns government and politics in the period 1949 to 1958. An epilogue carries the story to 1961. 638 pages, maps, $8.75

Social Changes in Jogjakarta

By SELOSOEMARDJAN, University of Indonesia

THIS self-ruling area under a Sultan in Central Java moved during the Indonesian revolution farther toward western political democracy than any other part of Indonesia, yet with a minimum of social disruption.

Dr. Seloemardjan, who himself took an active part in effecting that development, gives an objective yet personal account of the administrative changes occurring simultaneously in this Javanese society, as it progresses from a colonial to an independent status and from a feudal to a democratic structure.

Politics in Thailand

By DAVID A. WILSON, University of California, Los Angeles

THE first book-length study of politics in Thailand published in a quarter century, this book focuses on the structure and function of power in contemporary Thailand. The author analyzes the authority the king exercises, the Cabinet as the formal locus of power, the national assembly as a symbol of egalitarianism, the domination of military organizations, the role of political cliques, and the succession of constitutions. He reveals the basis for stability and the sources of change within this successful Asian political system. 322 pages, chart, tables, $5.75

THE CHINESE COMMUNIST MOVEMENT 1937-1949

An Annotated Bibliography of Selected Materials in the Chinese Collection of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace

By Chun-tu Hsueh

312 pages (Published as Volume XI of Hoover Institution Bibliographical Series) $5.00

In 1960 the Hoover Institution published a bibliography on Communism in China (see below) covering its birth and its growth to 1937. The present work is a chronological continuation of this volume, covering the crucial twelve-year period from 1937 to the time of the Communist conquest of the mainland in 1949. The two volumes represent an indispensable reference work to Chinese language sources on the history and development of the Chinese Communist Party.
