THE STYLE OF PARIS

Renaissance Origins of the French Enlightenment

George Huppert

In his new book, George Huppert introduces the reader to a group of talented young men, some of them teenagers, who called themselves philosophes. They wrote poetry, they studied Greek and mathematics—and they entertained subversive notions concerning religion and politics. These young radicals fostered a succession of disciples who expressed confidence in the eventual enlightenment of humankind and whose ideas would bear fruit two centuries later.

The Poetic Philosophy of Giambattista Vico
Giuseppe Mazzotta

The great Italian philosopher of history Giambattista Vico can be startlingly relevant to the social and educational divisiveness we confront at century's end. Here Giuseppe Mazzotta, one of the leading Italianists in the United States, shows how much Vico, properly read, can bring to an understanding of contemporary social problems.

TAKING POSITIONS

Taking Positions

On the Erotic in Renaissance Culture
Bette Talvacchia

In the early 1520s, Giulio Romano made sixteen drawings of couples in various sexual positions. Known as I modi (“the positions”), the drawings were modeled on classical sources and themselves became a model for erotica in early modern Europe. Bette Talvacchia presents the first comprehensive account of the origins, impact, and context of these drawings.

“Talvacchia’s many-sided approach to her material rises gloriously to the provocative subject.”—Ingrid D. Rowland

Images of the Illustrious

The Numismatic Presence in the Renaissance

John Cunnally

Images of the Illustrious is an introduction and a guide to the numismatic scholarship of the Renaissance—the coin collections and illustrated coin-books produced by humanists and artists of the sixteenth century.

“John Cunnally’s book splendidly fills the need for an introduction to Renaissance numismatics. . . . Historians, art historians, students of Renaissance literature, and many others will find Images of the Illustrious a godsend.”—Anthony Grafton

How to Do It

Guides to Good Living for Renaissance Italians

Rudolph M. Bell

How to Do It shows us sixteenth-century Italy from an entirely new perspective: through manuals which were staples in the households of middlebrow Italians just trying to lead a better life. Bell's journey through manuals long ignored or dismissed by scholars as being of little literary value and intellectual depth gives us a refreshing and surprisingly fun, and funny, social history.

Renaissance Quarterly Style Sheet

ARTICLES

1. RULES FOR MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSION

Three hard copies of the manuscript are required; please do not send a computer diskette at this point. The author's name, address, phone and fax numbers, and e-mail address should be included on a separate sheet, but the author's name should not appear on the title page or on other pages of the manuscript; this anonymity allows us to obtain "blind readings" from our referees.

Manuscripts should be typed or printed on letter quality printers. Manuscripts should be double-spaced including inset quotations, endnotes, and bibliography. A bibliography of printed sources is required. Photocopies of illustrations are acceptable at this stage.

2. RULES FOR ACCEPTED MANUSCRIPTS

Authors of accepted manuscripts should not send revised manuscripts until they hear from the RSA office regarding format and style. Once authors have prepared final, revised versions of the manuscripts, they should send one hard copy and one IBM compatible high-density 1.44mb diskette using Word Perfect 6.0 or higher or MS Word for Windows 6.0, 7.0 or 97. Any author who does not work in one of these programs should contact the RSA office for further instruction. Do not convert from your native word processing program to another format using a "save as" feature without first contacting the office. Please be advised that the disk copy of the manuscript will be the definitive version used by the office for editing purposes.

3. STYLE RULES

Renaissance Quarterly follows the Chicago Manual of Style, 14th ed. with a few exceptions as noted below. Accepted manuscripts that do not follow these rules will be delayed in publication. Avoid jargon. Spelling should be American in style. Titles of well-known works should appear in English in the text even if the author has listed the original in the bibliography.

The author's name should appear on a separate line after the title, and the author's institutional affiliation should appear at the end of the body of the text. Manuscripts should be double-spaced, including inset quotations, endnotes, and bibliography. Authors are required to use endnotes, and the endnotes should be inserted using a word processor endnote function. Illustrations should be unmounted glossy prints, and copies of the permissions to publish the illustrations should be sent to the office along with the manuscript.

Gender-specific language should be avoided in generic statements: “Renaissance people” (not “Renaissance men”); “humanity” (not “mankind”); “ingenious authors will find elegant solutions to their problems” (not “an ingenious author will find elegant solutions to her problem”); and so on.

NUMBERS AND DATES

The numbers one through twenty are spelled out in the text except in dates, page numbers, and when used to refer to parts of books: “one chapter deals with” vs. “chapter 1 deals with.” Dates should be written European style: “1 January 1400.” Page numbers of more than two digits are written thus: 66-67; 100-09; 115-508. Numbers that identify centuries are spelled out. When used as an adjective, the century name should be hyphenated: “sixteenth-century art.” The Italian centuries are capitalized: “Quattrocento,” “Cinquecento,” etc.; English centuries names are not.

USE OF ITALICS

Italics are not used for place names (S. Maria Gloriosa dei Frari), proper names (François I), or quotations in foreign languages that are longer than two words. Thus: mamma mia vs. “mamma mia carissima.”

QUOTATIONS

Citations for quotations may be handled as either endnotes or as in-text parenthetical citations. Ellipsis is rarely necessary at the beginning or the end of a quotation (which is obviously a part of a whole) but is obligatory within the body of quoted material to indicate omission. Ellipsis (. . .) is indicated by three spaced periods, or by four spaced periods when it comes at the end of a sentence within the body of the quotation.

EXAMPLES OF QUOTATIONS

1. Quotations of more than ten lines are set off in a block from the body of the text and should be double-spaced:

This is a long quotation; longer than can be comfortably accommodated within quotation marks. When the quoted material gets to be about this long or longer, set it off from your text as a block indent. (Krueger, 18)

(If using parenthetical citation as above, please note that the quotation ends with a period followed by the reference; there is no period after the parentheses.)

2. Short quotations should be handled as follows. Scholars agree that “short quotes can be accommodated within quotation marks within your text” (Krueger, 100).

(Please note that in this case the period goes after the parenthetical citation.)

3. For short quotations of poetry, use slashes (/) between lines and double slashes (//) between stanzas: “To be or not to be/ That is the question.”

QUOTATIONS IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

All words and short passages in foreign languages should be translated in parentheses immediately after the original language the first time they are used, e.g., coram papam (“in the presence of the pope”). Long passages should be translated in the text and quoted in the notes. Very long passages will be converted to appendices. In the notes, quotations in non-Roman alphabets should not be transliterated. For Latin, abbreviations and contractions should be spelled out and modern conventions followed for such letters as I/j, u/v, w/vv, etc. Use modern punctuation and capitalize proper names even when lower-cased in the original.

ENDNOTES

Do not use footnotes in articles. Instead, use endnotes and number them using the endnote function of your word processor. All works cited are to be given in the bibliography. Do not give bibliographic references in endnotes. An asterisk should follow the title for acknowledgments; numbered endnotes should start in the text.

FORMS OF CITATION

Endnote references consist of the author’s last name, a comma, and the page number(s) without “p.” or “pp.” If citing line numbers, spell out “line.” Abbreviate “chap.” for “chapter”; “bk.” for “book”; “pt.” for “part”; and “vol.” for “volume”; “n.” (or “nn.”) for “note” (or “notes”); all are always lower-cased. “Verso” and “recto” must be specified, abbreviated in the following form in lowercase: fol. 18v; fol. 18r-v; fols. 18r-19v. “Idem.,” “op. cit.,” and “loc. cit.” are not used in Renaissance Quarterly. “Ibid.,” non-italicized, may be used to refer to data in the note immediately preceding. Authors may cite page numbers in the text, but they must indicate their intention to do so in the first endnote citation.

EXAMPLES OF CITATIONS

1. King, 98-144.

(Standard citation; only one author and one work.)

2. Ibid., 79.

(Because the same publication was cited in the immediately preceding note, the reference is indicated by the abbreviation "ibid.," with a period but not italicized.)

3. R. L. Stevenson, 81.

(Because the bibliography includes another author of this surname, the initials are included.)

4. Kristeller, 2:73.

(A reference to a multi-volume work.)

5. Kristeller, 1929, 37.

(Because there is more than one source by this author, the year is added.)

6. Monfasani, 1980a, 51.

(Because there is more than one publication by this author in 1980, a lowercase "a" [or "b," "c," etc.] is added after the year.)

BIBLIOGRAPHY

The bibliography included at the end of your article should follow the Chicago Manual of Style. Works should be listed alphabetically by author. If the author is unknown, list by title. Do not list primary and secondary sources separately. The second citation by an author should have a line five spaces long followed by a period. Where there is more than one author, only the first should be listed with last name first. Abbreviate "ed(s)." for "editor(s)" and "trans." for "translator(s)." Where more than one US city has the same name, specify the state using US postal style: Durham, NC and Durham, NH. Where an American city is named after a European city, list the state for the American city if necessary for clarity: Cambridge for Cambridge University Press, but Cambridge, MA for Harvard University Press. Foreign place names are given in English: Venice, not Venezia. List no more than two cities where the book was published.

EXAMPLES OF BIBLIOGRAPHICAL FORMAT

1. Basic bibliographic form:

Brucker, Gene. Giovanni and Lusanna: Love and Marriage in Renaissance Florence. Berkeley and Los Angeles, 1986.

McMillian, Scott and Sally-Beth Maclean. The Queen's Men and their Plays. Cambridge and New York, 1998.

(Note that in the second example the second author's name is not inverted.)

2. Books with editors:

Rabil, Albert, Jr., ed. Renaissance Humanism: Foundations, Forms and Legacy. 3 vols. Philadelphia, 1988.

(Note the placement of "ed." and that the editor's name precedes the title.)

Lyons, Bridget Gellert. "Poetic Affinities: Metaphysical and Modern Poets." In Teaching Metaphysical Poetry, ed. Sidney Gottlieb, 78-87. New York, 1989.

(Note that in a selection from an edited book, the editor's name follows the title of the book and the page numbers of the article follow the editor's name.)

Caspar, Max. Kepler. Ed. and trans. C. Doris Hellman. London, 1969. Reprint, New York, 1993.

(Note that if there is an editor and a translator, list both. Also, note the placement of "Reprint" and that it is not abbreviated.)

3. A multi-volume book:

Kristeller, Paul Oskar. Renaissance Thought. 2 vols. New York, 1961-1965.

4. Articles in journals:

Steinberg, Leo. "Leonardo's Last Supper." Art Quarterly 36 (1973): 297-410.

(If the journal had differently numbered series, this would be indicated as follows: Journal, 2d ser., 80 (1978): 30-38; or Journal, n.s. 11 (1980): 489-504.)

5. Book reviews:

Prescott, Anne Lake. Rev. of Vulgar Rabelais by Carol Clark and Rabelais in Glasgow, ed. James A. Coleman and Christine M. Schollen-Jimack. Renaissance Quarterly 39 (1986): 552-55.

REVIEWS AND REVIEW ESSAYS

Renaissance Quarterly does not accept unsolicited or volunteer reviews. If you wish to be considered as a reviewer, please see RNN 98.2 (Fall/Winter) for details.

Reviewers may wish to comment on the care and accuracy with which the book under review has been produced. However, please refrain from recording typographical errors and spelling mistakes unless substantive points can be made. Please observe the due date and word length for your review. If a review exceeds the assigned word limit, it will be returned for editing.

STYLE RULES FOR REVIEWS

Reviewers should send one hard copy and one IBM compatible high-density 1.44mb diskette using Word Perfect 6.0 or higher or MS Word for Window 6.0, 7.0 or 97. Any author who does not work in one of these programs should contact the RSA office for further instruction. Reviews may also be sent to the office as e-mail attachments. If you wish to do so, please contact the office. Be advised that the disk copy or e-mail attachment of the manuscript will be the definitive version used by the office for editing purposes. Reviews should be typed double spaced. If possible, please use italics rather than underlining. Type the bibliographical information at the top of the review, double spaced, as follows:

Shakespeare, William. The Merry Wives of Windsor. Ed. David Crane. (The New Cambridge Shakespeare.) Cambridge and New York: Cambridge University Press, 1997. xi + 2 pls. + 163 pp. $39.95 (cl), $10.95 (pbk). ISBN: 0-521-22155-2 (cl), 0-521-29370-7 (pbk).

Quotations within the text from the book under review should be followed by a page number in parentheses: "The history of the text" (132). Reference to other works should be made by parenthetical citations: "The history of the text" (Thomas Writer, The Book Cited [1997]). Renaissance Quarterly does not print footnotes to reviews.

At the end of your review, please type your name and institution as follows:

Joan Doe
University of Virginia

STYLE RULES FOR REVIEW ESSAYS

A review essay should be titled as if it were an article. The title should then be followed by the bibliographical information for the books under review. Quotations should be cited using in-text parenthetical citation style. Although it is not encouraged, if endnotes are necessary, please follow the guidelines under “Articles” for preparation of the endnotes and the bibliography.
