All editorial correspondence and manuscripts should be addressed to Mark DeLancey, Editor, African Studies Review, Department of Government and International Studies, University of South Carolina, Columbia SC 29208. African Studies Review policy precludes the acceptance of unsolicited book reviews. As a corollary, we do not accept requests to review specific books.

All manuscripts should be submitted in triplicate, typed double-spaced. Maps, tables, charts and other illustrations must be camera-ready. Manuscripts should conform to the latest edition of A Manual of Style (University of Chicago Press). List notes and references at the end of the article. Manuscripts will be submitted anonymously to readers; please include a removable cover page giving name and mailing address, fax number and e-mail address, if available; title should be on the first page of text. Avoid self-identification as author throughout article. Include a 250-word abstract, as well as a signed statement that the article has not been published and is not currently under consideration by other journals. ASR will only consider unpublished manuscripts.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS

The United States Postal System does not forward periodicals. We must receive written notification from you at least five weeks in advance of any change of mailing address. Failure to notify us of your correct mailing address will result in suspension of your membership mailings until we receive such notification. We can make address changes only when current dues are paid. Domestic claims for nonreceipt of issues must be made to the Association's office within six months of publication (overseas claims, one year). Copies of the Review damaged in the mail will be replaced without charge.

The African Studies Review is published three times a year (April, September, and December) by the African Studies Association, Credit Union Building, Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia 30322, USA. Articles in the Review represent neither the views of the African Studies Association nor those of its officers; responsibility for opinions expressed and for the accuracy of facts published rests solely with the individual authors.

CONTRIBUTORS

ALLISON GOEBEL is a Ph.D. candidate in Sociology at the University of Alberta, Edmonton. She did her M.A. in International Development Studies at St. Mary's University in Halifax.

MARC EPPRECHT is a Visiting Assistant Professor of History at the University of Alberta. He did his Ph.D. in History at Dalhousie University in Halifax.

AYODEJI OLUKOJU, Ph.D., is Senior Lecturer at the University of Lagos, and a 1993-94 Japan Foundation Fellow. He is the author of Maritime Trade, Port Development and Administration: The Japanese Experience and Lessons for Nigeria (Tokyo, forthcoming), and of several essays in Africanist and specialist journals of Transport and Maritime History.

M. C. MUSAMBACHIME received his doctorate degree from the University of Wisconsin at Madison in 1981. He has taught at the University of Zambia where he has also served as Head of the History Department and is currently director of the Institute of Human Relations. He has written widely on the social and economic history of Zambia.

BARRY HALLEN is a director of Southern Crossroads, an associated research project responsible for the African dimension of UNESCO's Integral Study of the Silk Roads. He was previously Reader in Philosophy at the Obafemi Awolowo University, Nigeria. His current philosophical interests focus on interdisciplinary applications of the analytic tradition and the interpretation of African (in particular, Yoruba) discourse.

ALEXANDER J. YEATS is now employed as Principal Economist with the International Economics Department in the World Bank and previously served with the United Nations in Geneva and Federal Reserve Board in Washington. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Nebraska and his Masters from UCLA. Dr. Yeats has published six books and close to 100 journal articles on trade and development policy.

In Acknowledgement

On behalf of the editorial board of African Studies Review, I would like to thank Eddy Bay for her varied and timely contributions to the Journal. She has been generous with advice, encouragement, and support during my editorship and I will miss her participation in the process. Thanks Eddy, and good luck.
