

The Profession

Professional Notes

POLICY Studies Organization

The Policy Studies Organization has been active in expanding its publication activities during 1977. The spring symposium of its Policy Studies Journal dealt with "Deductive Models in Policy Analysis" under the editorship of Gordon Tullock and Richard Wagner. The summer symposium dealt with "Legislative Reform" edited by Leroy Rieselbach. The autumn symposium will be on "Transportation and Communication Policy" by Alan Altshuler, and the winter symposium will be on "Population Policy" by Michael Kraft and Mark Schneider. There will also be a special symposium issue on "Comparative Public Policy" by Douglas Ashford. Most of these symposia will also be published in expanded book-length versions as part of the Policy Studies Organization Series with Lexington Books of D.C. Heath and Company. Some volumes in the PSO-Lexington Series are now also being published in paperback form by such publishers as Southern Illinois University Press and Transaction Incorporated.

In addition to its four or five journal issues and book symposia per year, the Policy Studies Organization is also adding to its Yearbooks in Politics and Public Policy published through Sage Publications. Beginning in 1977 or 1978 there will probably be two volumes per year. The tentative 1977 volumes are one entitled Comparing Public Policies: New Concepts and Methods under the editorship of Douglas Ashford, and one entitled Public Policy Strategies in America: Past, Present, and Future, edited by Theodore Lowi and Alan Stone. The tentative 1978 volumes are one entitled Politics and Public Policy edited by Aaron Wildavsky and Judith May, and one entitled Policy Studies and Public Choice edited by Douglas Rae and Stephanie Cameron.

Other PSO activities include the recent publication of the Policy Studies Grants Directory which provides a source-by-source survey of relevant programs, coverage, persons, eligibility, amounts, procedures, and other information on obtaining funds for policy studies research and other policy studies activities. Questionnaires are now being sent to a variety of institutes for the compilation of a Policy Research Centers Directory. The Policy Studies Organization is currently headed by Theodore Lowi, with Dorothy James as vice-president and president-elect, and Stuart Nagel as secretary-treasurer. Dues are only $8 per year which covers the quarterly journal, special issues, the directories, and one-third discounts on the books. Further information can be obtained from the Policy Studies Organization, 361 Lincoln Hall, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois 61801.

HUMAN Studies Journal

Human Studies, a journal for philosophy and the social sciences, invites papers for the first volume to be published in 1978. The Journal is devoted to advancing the dialogue between philosophy and the social sciences: in particular, between phenomenological and existential philosophy on the one hand and phenomenological, existential, and ethnomethodological approaches to the social sciences on the other. The Journal is problem-oriented rather than discipline-oriented. In addition to theoretical and philosophical analyses of approach and method, it will welcome empirical studies of the world of everyday life. Manuscripts should be sent to George Psathas, Department of Sociology, Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts 02215.

Journal of CHURCH and STATE

Journal of Church and State welcomes the submission of typescripts (maximum: thirty double-spaced pages) on the constitutional, theological, philosophical, and sociological aspects of church-state relations and religious freedom for consideration for publication during 1979 and 1980. Typescripts should be mailed to the Editor, Box 380, Baylor University, Waco, Texas 76703.

ILLINOIS Legislature Volume

Samuel K. Gove, Richard W. Carlson, and Richard J. Carlson have co-authored a volume entitled The Illinois Legislature: Structure and Process. The work had its inception in the Illinois State Legislative Service Project co-sponsored by the American Political Science Association and the Illinois Legislative Council, which published an earlier version of the book, An Introduction to the Illinois General Assembly. The current volume was published for the University of Illinois Institute of Government and Public Affairs by the University of Illinois Press.

Douglas MCGREGOR Award

The Journal of Applied Behavioral Science announces the 1977 Douglas McGregor Memorial Award of $1,000 for an article best exempliying the interplay among theory, practice, and values in any domain of planned change.

Articles should be sent to Perla Sanez, Assistant to the McGregor Award Committee, NTL Institute of Applied Behavioral Science, Box 9155, Arlington, Virginia 22209.

Articles should be 3,000 to 6,000 words in length and should be submitted in quadruplicate no later than September 1, 1977. They will be judged by an award committee chaired by Herbert A. Shepard.

SOUTHWESTERN Political Science Association

The 1977-78 Officers for the Southwestern Political Science Association are: Joseph Cooper, President, Rice University and Commission on Administrative Review; C. Neal Tate, President-Elect, North Texas State University; Larry Dodd, Vice-President and Program Chairman, University of Texas at Austin; Charledean Newell, Secretary-Treasurer, North Texas State University.

NATIONAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCE Selection

Gabriel A. Almond, Stanford University, is one of sixty distinguished scholars who have been elected to membership in the National Academy of Science.

MINNESOTA Association

The Minnesota Political Science Association has elected the following officers for its 1977-78 Executive Committee: Kent Eklund, President, St. Olaf College; Dave Carlson, St. Cloud State University; Craig Grau, University of Minnesota-Duluth; Milda Hedblom, Augsburg College; Donal Hinz, Worthington Community College; Alexander Nadasen, Bemidji State University; Roger Brooks, Macalester College; Carolyn Shrewsbury, Mankato State University; Anne Walcott, Lakewood Community College; Milliard Gieske, University of Minnesota-Minneapolis.

University of Texas at DALLAS Program

The University of Texas at Dallas has announced a new graduate program in Political Economy. The program involves the study of the interaction of political and economic factors in domestic and international settings.

Core courses include Theories of Political Economy, Approaches to Public Policy, Public Finance and Economic Decision Making, Microeconomics, Macroeconomics, Data Analysis I and II, and Policy Research Design and Evaluation. Professional experience will be gained in a job or research internship for which six hours of academic credit are given. Students complete at least three (three-hour) courses in an area they select for specialization. Options in which one may specialize include Urban Political Economy; Public Sector Administration; International Relations and Development; The Administration of Justice; Science and Technology; and Industrial Regulation and Development.

For further information write to Political Economy Program, University of Texas at Dallas, P.O. Box 688-MSGR 3.1, Richardson, Texas 75080.

Southern Review of PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

The first issue of the Southern Review of Public Administration has recently been published. Contributors to the first issue include: Dwight Waldo, Syracuse University; Jefferson S. Duffey, Florida Technological University; Donato J. Pugliese, Georgia State University; C. E. Teasley, III, University of West Florida; Joseph C. Pilegge, University of Alabama; Jim W. Meredith, Executive Assistant to the Governor of South Carolina; M. R. Stierheim, County Manager, Metropolitan Dade County; Frank Gibson and William Bartley Hildreth, University of Georgia; George S. Odiorne, University of Massachusetts; Charlie B. Tyer, University of South Carolina; and Gregory A. Daneke, Virginia Polytechnic and State University.

SRPA has been established to serve practitioner and academic needs of the public administration community in the South. SRPA is sponsored by the ASPA Southeast Regional Conference, Montgomery Chapter of ASPA, and Auburn University at Montgomery.

Those interested in subscribing may do so by sending $10 for four quarterly issues to: Southern Review of Public Administration, Auburn University at Montgomery, Montgomery, Alabama 36117.

Overseas INDIANS Survey

The Department of Political Science at Old Dominion University, Norfolk, Virginia 23508, is conducting an attitude survey of a national sample of Indian immigrants in the United States. The Omnibus questionnaire that is being utilized in the study includes questions relating to migrants' attitudes toward the problems, policies and issues in the host society. It is the first such national study of this ethnic minority in the United States. Members of the scholarly community who may wish to know more about this survey research or wish to obtain a copy of the final report of this study when completed may contact: Dr. Manindra Kumar Mohapatra, Associate Professor of Political Science and Project Coordinator, "Overseas Indian Research Project," Old Dominion University, Norfolk, Virginia 23508, (804) 489-6543.

Everett DIRKSEN Papers

The Everett McKinley Dirksen Congressional Leadership Research Center in Pekin, Illinois, announces that as of June 15 it has opened to interested researchers for the first time portions of the papers of Everett McKinley Dirksen (1896-1969).

After serving in the House of Representatives from 1933 until 1949, Dirksen was elected to the United States Senate in 1950, became Minority Leader in 1959, and served in that position until his death in 1969. The Remarks and Releases File (1941-1969) and the Republican Congressional Leadership File (1958-1968) are open to researchers. The former includes speeches, radio and television interviews, press releases, and miscellaneous remarks on political issues, legislation, domestic and foreign policies, and government operations. The bulk of the Leadership File contains the minutes of the Joint Senate-House Republican Leadership meetings which include attendance, summaries of topics discussed, and background information for statements issued after the meetings. Although the minutes are generally brief, they occasionally run to several pages.

Researchers may consult the papers Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays from 9:00 a.m. to noon and 1:00 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Due to limited hours for research use, visitors are encouraged to contact the Center before undertaking research trips. Inquiries regarding the use of the collection should be directed to the Director, Everett McKinley Dirksen Congressional Leadership Research Center, 301 South Fourth Street, Pekin, Illinois 61554.

BLACK Vote

The Black Vote: Election '76, a publication on black voting patterns in the 1976 elections, is now available for $5.00 prepaid from the Publications Department of the Joint Center for Political Studies, 1426 H Street, N.W., Suite 926, Washington, D.C. 20005.

PI SIGMA ALPHA

Seven new chapters of Pi Sigma Alpha, the National Political Science Honor Society, have recently been installed. They are: Theta Gamma, Shippensburg State College; Theta Beta, Mississippi State University; Theta Epsilon, University of North Carolina, Charlotte; Theta Iota, California State College, San Bernardino; Theta Delta, University of Missouri, St. Louis; Theta Theta, Midwestern State University; and Theta Eta, University of Detroit.

HUMANITIES Center

The National Humanities Center has been created to encourage advanced studies in the humanities, to bring humanistic scholars together with scholars in other disciplines and with men of learning in various fields of professional activity, and to enhance the usefulness and influence of the humanities in the American civic process. It is a response to the widely felt need within the academic world to give the humanities renewed emphasis and visibility, and to the growing recognition within the country at large that the humanities offer resources not yet fully tapped for public enlightenment and the imaginative understanding of public issues.

The assumptions on which the Center is founded are that scholarship in the humanities, as in other fields, can be strengthened if humanists are equipped to look beyond the resources of their own disciplines; that the traditions of the humanities can be given new life and intellectual momentum if their significance for issues of broad national and international concern is exhibited; and that an institution is needed where new paths for humanistic inquiry can be laid down and new models of achievement can be created and rewarded.

In establishing an institute for advanced study based on these assumptions, the Center's founders seek the advancement of humanistic knowledge for its own intrinsic values, recognizing that the humanities make their distinctive contribution to the understanding of practical problems by offering a perspective that moves beyond the immediacies. The public issues with which the Center will be concerned include not only problems of current political and social importance but the broad range of shared human concern as recorded in history, as represented in religion, literature and the arts, as shaped by law, language, and social institutions, and as mirrored and criticized in morals, logic, and the philosophy of the sciences.

The Center interprets "humanistic" to mean a way of approaching a subject—a concern for the assumptions and methods introduced by the human mind in its encounter with the subject, an emphasis on its context in human history and experience, a focus on its significance in the understanding of the human drama. The Center's fellowships will be open to humanistically inclined scholars in the natural and social sciences and the professions as well as to scholars in the fields conventionally identified with "the humanities."

The Center will open in September, 1978, in a new building specially designed for its use in the Research Triangle Park, in the Raleigh, Durham, Chapel Hill area of North Carolina. The facilities of the libraries at Duke University, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and North Carolina State University will be available to its Fellows.

The Center will accept approximately twenty-five Fellows in 1978. It expects to reach its full complement of approximately fifty Fellows in 1980. In general, the Center will provide stipends to Fellows that will match their normal academic income plus the expenses incident to moving to the Center. In some cases, funds for research assistance may be available. Recipients of fellowships or other forms of financial support from sources other than the Center are eligible to apply. The Center will assist Fellows and their families in finding suitable housing in the neighboring university communities. The normal term of a Fellowship will be nine months, from September through May, but a few short-term Fellowships will also be available.

Fellowships for the period 1978-80 will be available in the following categories:

- (1) Fellowships for senior scholars pursuing individual research;
- (2) Fellowships for scholars who have held their Ph.D.'s for not less than six years nor more than nine, and who are embarking on their first large-scale projects;
- (3) Fellowships for scholars whose work falls in one of the following general areas: Man and Nature; History and the History of Ideas; The Theory of Interpretation; Ideals of Education; Human Rights, Liberty and Equality, Moral Theory and Democracy.

The President of the Center is Charles Frankel; William J. Bennett is the Executive Officer. For more information, write to National Humanities Center, P.O. Box 12256, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina 27709.

ITALIAN-AMERICAN Program

International College has announced the inauguration of an Italian-American Studies Program to explore political and social history, assimilation and identity, political behavior, the urban crisis, the literary dimension, the new ethnicity, and the political and social behavior of Italian-Americans.

International College was founded in 1970 as an alternative to traditional higher education. The college is comprised of a number of tutors who are internationally known professors, writers, artists, and musicians and who live and teach in countries all over the world. One student or a small group of students work under the guidance of a chosen tutor. International College awards the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees, but numbers of students in junior and senior honors programs have been permitted by their institutions to study with an International College tutor for credit at their own college or university. Teachers on sabbatical also study with tutors.

Professor Pat Gallo of the State University of New York at Purchase, will serve as principal tutor for the program. He is the author of Ethnic Alienation: The Italian-Americans; The Urban Experience of Italian-Americans; Old Bread, New Wine—A Portrait of the Italian-American Experience.

For further information regarding this program write to: Dean Linden Leavitt, International College, 1019 Gayley Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90024, (213) 477-6761.

CONSUMER Policy Journal

An international scientific journal with articles in English and German, which will analyze the consumer's dependence upon existing social and economic conditions. The journal will publish empirical research on consumer and producer conduct and will encourage studies of the interaction between consumption and adjacent areas of behavior such as work and leisure. It will scrutinize public policy in the consumer sphere and its social and economic consequences. Current consumer affairs and consumer legislation will be covered in a reports section.

The journal is a quarterly, and its first issue appeared in March 1977. Editors are Folke Olander (Psychology), Norbert Reich (Law), and Gerhard Scherhorn (Economics). The Editorial Office is in Stuttgart, West Germany; its address is Journal of Consumer Policy, Hohenheim University (09200), Postfach 106, D-7000 Stuttgart 70, West Germany.

For subscriptions and sample copies, contact Luchterhand Verlag, Postfach 1780, D-5450 Neuwied 1, West Germany. Subscription is DM 80 per year.

ASIAN Political Scientists in North America Book

Asian Political Scientists in North America: Professional and Ethnic Problems has been edited with an introduction by Chun-tu Hsueh of the University of Maryland. It is published by the University of Maryland Law School and may be purchased for $3.00 prepaid by writing to the University of Maryland Law School, 500 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201.

The volume consists of a collection of revised papers originally presented at the American Political Science Association Annual Meetings between 1971 and 1975. The last chapter is partly based on the roundtable conference discussions organized by the editor for the APSA meeting in September 1976.

CENTERPOINT

Centerpoint, an interdisciplinary studies journal published by the students, faculty and alumni of the Graduate School and University Center of the City University of New York, invites manuscripts for a future issue of the journal on the topic of aggression. Manuscripts or further inquiries about the journal should be sent to Centerpoint, 33 West 42nd Street, New York, New York 10036.

Don K. PRICE Chair

The John Fitzgerald Kennedy School of Government of Harvard University received a gift of $1,000,000 from the W. R. Hewlett Foundation to endow a new professorship in public policy and administration in honor of Don K. Price. The chair recognizes the distinguished intellectual and administrative service of Dr. Price who is retiring as Dean after nineteen years of service to the School.

CARTER Political Scientists' Appointments

A number of political scientists have been appointed to positions in the Carter administration including Zbigniew Brzezinski, Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs; Alan K. Campbell, Chairman, U.S. Civil Service Commission; Eugene Eidenberg, Deputy Under Secretary of HEW for Intergovernmental Affairs; Lynne E. Davis, Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs; Samuel P. Huntington, staff consultant, National Security Council; Joseph S. Nye, Deputy to Under Secretary for Security Assistance, U.S. Department of State; Mark A. Siegel, Special Assistant to the President for Policy Analysis; Richard G. Hutcherson, III, Staff Secretary to the President; and J. E. Hakes, Special Assistant to the Office of Personnel and Manpower, A.I.D.; and Inez Smith Reid, Assistant General Counsel, Office of Regulation Review, HEW.

Several former Congressional Fellows have also been appointed to positions. They include: Joan Claybrook, Director, National Highway Safety Administration; Richard D. Warden, Assistant Secretary of HEW for Legislation; Charles W. Maynes, Assistant Secretary of State for International Organizations; Richard M. Moose, Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs; Anne Holloway, Special Assistant to Ambassador Andrew Young, U.S. Department of State; Forrest Gerard, Assistant Secretary of Interior for Indian Affairs. Everard Munsey, a former Congressional Staff Fellow, is the Assistant Secretary of Treasury for Public Affairs.

THE REASON FOR DEMOCRACY

by Kalman H. Silvert

Kalman H. Silvert, the distinguished political scientist, discusses the normative and structural changes that have occurred in our democratic process since 1776.

In this major contribution to the theory of politics, Mr. Silvert argues that the deficiencies of the American political system as we know it are caused not by democracy's shortcomings but by failures to enact its basic tenets.

"What the book reflects is Kalman Silvert's undying faith that there are extraordinary possibilities in ordinary people—and that is what democracy is all about."

—SOL M. LINOWITZ, Chairman of the National Urban Coalition

$8.95

THE VIKING PRESS

625 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022

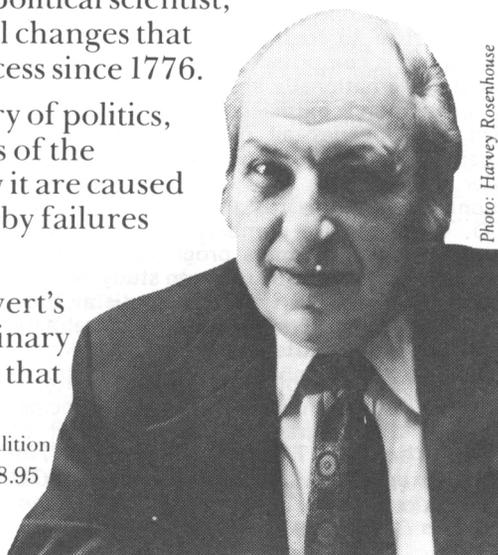

Photo: Harvey Rosenhouse

A few more good reasons why American political scientists should read

BRITISH JOURNAL OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

Graham K. Wilson, "Are Department Secretaries Really a President's Natural Enemies?" (July 1977)

B. Guy Peters and David Klingman, "Patterns of Expenditure Development in Sweden, Norway and Denmark" (July 1977)

Donald Searing and Chris Game, "Horses for Courses: The Recruitment of Whips in the British House of Commons" (July 1977)

Richard A. Brody and Paul M. Sniderman, "From Life Space to Polling Place: The Relevance of Personal Concerns for Voting Behavior" (July 1977)

David W. Brady, "Critical Elections, Congressional Parties and Clusters of Policy Changes" (October 1977)

M. Kent Jennings and Richard G. Niemi, "The Persistence of Political Orientations: An Over-Time Analysis of Two Generations" (forthcoming)

Michael S. Lewis-Beck, "Explaining Peasant Conservatism: The Western European Case" (forthcoming)

Leon D. Epstein, "A Comparative Study of Australian Parties" (January 1977)

Ezra N. Suleiman, "Self-Image, Legitimacy and the Stability of Elites: The Case of France" (April 1977)

Jane Mansbridge, "Acceptable Inequalities: An Analysis of Arguments for Political Equality" (April 1977)

British Journal of Political Science, edited by Anthony King, Professor of Government, University of Essex, is published quarterly. In addition to original papers, each issue contains a review article and brief research notes. Annual subscription: $49.00 for institutions, $32.00 for individuals.

Please enter my subscription to the British Journal of Political Science, Volume 7 (1977).

Institution _____ Individual _____

Payment enclosed $ _____ Please bill me _____

Charge Master Charge No. _____

Expiration date _____ 4-digit bank no. (shown above your name) _____

Charge BankAmericard No. _____

Valid from _____ to _____

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Cambridge University Press 32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022

Outside the U.S. and Canada, write to: Cambridge University Press, P.O. Box 92, London NW1 2DB, England