The Development of Anaesthetic Apparatus

A history based on the Charles King Collection of the Association of Anaesthetists of Great Britain and Ireland

K. Bryn Thomas FFARCS

From the reviews

'There is no other catalogue in the history of medicine akin to this one for it acts as a history of anaesthetics and of instrumental ingenuity, and at the same time is a scholarly guide to the artefacts themselves.' Medical History

'It has been well done, wonderfully illustrated, and is worthy of a medical historian of Dr Bryn Thomas's reputation.' British Medical Journal

'Serious work of scholarship though this is, Dr Bryn Thomas has enlivened it with many delightful asides ... and has included so much background material as to make it a treasure house of anaesthesiological information and lore catering for all tastes and prejudices.' History of Medicine

1975. 280 pages, 233 illustrations. £27.50

The Correspondence of Charles Darwin

VOLUME 2: 1837-1843

Edited by F. BURKHARDT and S. SMITH

The letters in this volume were written during the seven years following Darwin's return to England from the Beagle voyage. It was a period of extraordinary activity and productivity in which he became recognised as a naturalist of outstanding ability, as an author and editor, and as a professional man with official responsibilities in several scientific organisations. During these years he published two books and fifteen papers and he also organised and superintended the publication of The Zoology of the Voyage of the HMS Beagle. Busy as he was with scientific activities, Darwin found time to re-establish family ties and friendship, and married his cousin, Emma Wedgwood. In 1842, they moved to Down House, where Darwin was to spend the rest of his life. Viewed retrospectively, the most important of Darwin's activities during the years 1837-1842 was the development and first draft of his ideas on speciation.

'a most exacting work of scholarship... a consistently fascinating history of Darwin'

Herbals

Their Origin and Evolution. A Chapter in the History of Botany 1470-1670

AGNES ARBER

From 1470 to 1670 botany developed into a scientific discipline separate from herbalism and pharmacy and for that reason Arber's book has retained its interest and value and stands as the major survey. This reissue has a valuable introduction, annotations and a much expanded biographical guide by William T. Stearn. It also includes two important and related publications by Arber.

Introduction to the History of Medical and Veterinary Mycology

G. C. AINSWORTH

This book is the first to give a well-documented illustrated survey of the historical background to diseases in man and domesticated animals which are caused by fungi. The history of research into this area is described as well as the organisms themselves. It includes the study of infectious diseases caused by actinomycetes.

THE BRITISH SOCIETY FOR THE HISTORY OF SCIENCE

Membership of the Society, which includes a subscription to The British Journal for the History of Science, is open to all persons approved by the Council of the Society and elected at an ordinary meeting (formalities required by the UK Companies Act). The annual subscription for the membership year 1986–1987 is £13.50 (US $27.00 in the Americas, Canada and Japan) or for students, £6.75 ($13.50). Applications for membership should be made on a form which is available from the Society's Executive Secretary at the address below.

Meetings: The Society mounts an ambitious programme of meetings. The pattern is flexible, the only fixture being the three day summer meeting, held at a different British University or Polytechnic each year. About four other meetings, lasting for between one and three days, are held during the year, sometimes devoted to a clearly-defined theme or an important anniversary, and often arranged in conjunction with other scholarly societies.

The British Journal for the History of Science is the official organ of the Society. All correspondence on the contents of the Journal should be addressed to the Editor, Dr David Knight, Department of Philosophy, University of Durham, 50 Old Elvet, Durham DH1 3HN, England.

Books for review should be sent to the Reviews Editor, Dr John Hendry, 58 Canfield Gardens, London NW6 3EB.

Advertising: Contact the Advertising Department, Blackwell Scientific Publications, Osney Mead, Oxford, OX2 0EL. Fax no. (0865) 721205.

Other publications: BSHS Monograph Series is designed to allow the publication of monographic studies in the history of science quickly and cheaply. All correspondence on the subject of monographs, and any new suggestions for titles, should be sent to the Series Editor, Dr J. G. Smith, Department of History, University of Loughborough, Loughborough, Leics LE11 3TU, England. Monographs are available to members at a special price, post-free from the Society's Executive Secretary. Non-members may obtain them through bookshops, or post-free from the Executive Secretary. Now available:

List of theses: Every December, the Society publishes a full list of current theses in history of science in British universities. This is available free to members, and at a small charge to non-members on request to the Executive Secretary. Standing orders are accepted from members or non-members who wish to receive the list regularly.

The Society's Newsletter, an informal publication edited by Dr Mari Williams, Business History Unit, Lionel Robbins Building, 10 Portugal Street, London WC2A 2HD, appears in January, May and September each year. It is free to members, £4.50 for institutions and non-members.

All the administrative business of the Society is handled by The Executive Secretary, Wing-Commander G. Bennett, 'Southide', 31 High Street, Stanford-in-the-Vale, Faringdon, Oxfordshire SN7 8LH.
