

Shelby Cullom Davis Center for Historical Studies
Princeton University
Business, Enterprise, and Culture

In the two academic years 1994–1996 the subject of the Seminar of the Shelby Cullom Davis Center for Historical Studies at Princeton University will be “Business, Enterprise, and Culture.”

The Davis Center invites applications for fellowships or proposals for papers that address the place of business and enterprise (including company or industry histories, business techniques, and work and marketplace relationships) from a broadly cultural perspective. Proposals that deal with any historical period or environment are welcomed.

The Center will offer a limited number of research fellowships for one or two semesters, running from September to January and from February to June, designed for highly recommended younger scholars who have finished their dissertations as well as for senior scholars with established reputations. Fellows are expected to live in Princeton in order to take an active part in the intellectual interchange with other members of the Seminar. Funds are limited, and candidates are, therefore, strongly urged to apply to other grant-giving institutions as well as the Center, if they wish to come for a full year.

Inquiries and requests for Fellowship Application forms should be addressed to the Administrator, Shelby Cullom Davis Center for Historical Studies, Department of History, 129 Dickinson Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, NJ 08544–1017, USA. The deadline for applications and letters of recommendation for fellowships for 1994–95 is December 1, 1993, and for 1995–96 is December 1, 1994. Scholars who would like to offer a paper to one of the weekly Seminars are asked to send a brief description of their proposal and a current curriculum vitae to the Director.

Predicting the Future

Edited by LEO HOWE and ALAN WAIN

From auguries, oracles and omens to today's software simulation, Predicting the Future is a fascinating history of man's attempts to look beyond the present in the hope of being able to control events in the future.

An outstanding team of authors, lead by Stephen Hawking and Don Cupitt, has contributed to this thought-provoking examination of the motivations behind, and the methodology and consequences of, man's predictions both past and present.

- Original insights into the history of ideas, religion and scientific interpretation
- Distinguished team of authors
- Well illustrated throughout
